WAR COMMENCED.

Japanese War Vessels Opened Fire on the Russian Fleet at Port Arthur.

THREE RUSSIAN SHIPS BEACHED.

The Czar's Forts Opened Fire on the Japanese Fleet About Three Miles Distant.

Japan's Warships Were Later Seen Going in the Direction of Dainy, Apparently Undamaged By the Russian's Fire.

Chefoo, Feb. 10.—A member of the crew of the Columbia tells this story of the naval battle at Port Arthur:

"The Columbia was lying in the roadstead surrounded by 14 Russian battleships and cruisers. At 11:30 o'clock Monday night a severe shock was felt on board the Columbia. The Russians immediately commenced to operate their searchlights and opened fire towards the sea. The firing lasted only a short time. At 1 o'clock more shocks were felt and the Russians again commenced firing. The Japanese did not return the fire. At 2 o'clock two Russian battleships went in and were beached across the entrance of the harbor. They were soon followed by a Russian cruiser, which also was beached. None of the vessels were damaged above the water line. More shocks from torpedoes were felt during the early morning and then all was quiet. At 10 o'clock Tuesday morning three Japanese cruisers passed Port Arthur in sight of the Russian fleet. The whole Russian fleet immediately weighed anchor and went after them but returned in half an hour."

The Russian forts opened fire on the Japanese fleet, which was about three miles distant. The Japanese vessels returned the fire, hitting several of the Russian ships, but doing little damage. The Russian cruisers then went out, and the Japanese vessels disappeared. They were seen later going in the direction of Dainy, apparently undamaged, although the officers of the Columbia say that there were 17 in the attacking party, only 16 were seen later in the day near F'oo Chow.

The Columbia had a narrow escape from injury. Her passengers and crew were very much excited in regard to her dangerous position. While going out of the roads at Port Arthur the Russian cruiser Novik got between the Columbia and the Japanese fleet. Shells which passed over the Novik struck around the Columbia. Her flag was cut into shreds and one shell fell on her deck. The faces of those who were on deck were blackened with powder smoke. A naval officer who was recently at Port Arthur says the Russians were not prepared for the attack on their ships and had an insufficient amount of steam up. A boat patrolled the straits of Pe Chi Li continuously but apparently the Japanese torpedo boats were not noticed until after the first torpedo was fired. The Russians fired but the Japanese did not return the fire and backed off. An hour later the discharge of torpedoes was repeated, after which the torpedo boats withdrew some distance.

At 10 o'clock Tuesday morning the Japanese fast cruisers circled within view of the whole Russian fleet, but they were not engaged. The Russians returned toward the harbor after an hour. The Japanese continuing came within three miles. A battle then began and the Russian forts and 14 ships against 16 Japanese vessels. A few of the Japanese shells were effective but as far as seen the Russian shots fell short.

Japanese are reported to be in possession of the southern portion of the peninsula.

The News Confirmed.

Washington, Feb. 10.—The state department Tuesday received a cablegram from Ambassador McCormick at St. Petersburg confirming the press reports to the effect that three warships of the Russian fleet had been damaged in an attack in the roads of the harbor at Port Arthur by Japanese torpedo boats. The extent of the damage to the vessels, it is said, is unknown. This was the first official information received concerning this engagement.

Another telegram from the viceroy says that after a bombardment lasting one hour the Japanese squadron ceased its fire and steamed southward.

"Our losses," the viceroy continues, "are two naval officers and 51 men wounded and nine men killed, and on the coast batteries one man killed and three wounded."

"During the engagement the battleship Poltava and the cruisers Diana, Askold and Novik were each damaged on the water line. The damage to the fortress was not important."

Chicago, Feb. 10.—At 1 o'clock Wednesday morning a serious fire broke out in the factory of the Wilce Lumber Co., makers of sash, doors and blinds, at 21st and Allport streets. The flames spread through the factory with great rapidity and it was soon destroyed.

The box factory of the J. J. Wintermeyer Co. was next attacked and from there the flames spread to the establishment of the Chicago Picture Backing Co., which adjoins it on the south, and this place was soon in flames. The lumber yard of H. C. Schultze, on Throop street, was attacked by the flames, but after a hard struggle the firemen succeeded in checking its spread. The plants of the Chicago Table Co., the Chicago Picture Backing Co. and of the Wintermeyer Co. were completely destroyed. It is expected that the loss will reach $350,000. Two firemen were injured by a falling wall, one of whom, N. C. Margrafs, will die.

CHARGED WITH MURDER.

Teamster James McDonald Arrested on a Warrant at Bedford.

Bedford, Ind., Feb. 10.—James McDonald, a teamster, was arrested Tuesday night on a warrant charging him with the murder of Sarah Catherine Schafer, in the cab shed off of L street on the night of January 21. The warrant on which McDonald was arrested was sworn out by Detective Reed at 9 o'clock Tuesday night before Mayor J. Hickson Smith and Prosecutor Miller, the latter arriving here late Tuesday evening for that purpose. The arrest was made by Detectives Smith and Reed, Policeman Myers and Sheriff Smith. The prisoner was arrested at his home and taken in a cab to the office of S. B. Lowe, where he was confined until taken to the Jeffersonville reformatory by Detectives Reed and Smith. The movements of the officers were clothed in secrecy and no one anticipated the action of the authorities.

Following a rumor that the arrest had been made an excited crowd gathered at the Monon station expecting the prisoner to be taken north on the Monon to Indianapolis. Crowds congregated on the street corners discussing the arrest. The prisoner's whereabouts was kept a secret from the general public. Precaution was taken by the detectives to keep the public in ignorance of their actions, and the cab containing McDonald and his captors was driven in a roundabout way down an alley in the rear of Lowe's office, the prisoner being hustled up a rear stairway. For several hours the detectives and their prisoner were closeted together, the former resorting to the usual sweating method, but whether McDonald made a confession or not, Detective Reed would not divulge.

To conform with the laws of this state the preliminary trial of the prisoner must be held within 48 hours after the arrest and McDonald will be returned here for the hearing. The officials, to guard against any possibility of lynching, have communicated with Gov. Durbin requesting that militia be ordered here to protect the prisoner.

Mr. Overman had not hitherto made his position on the treaty known and his speech revealed the attitude of probably the last doubtful member of the senate. The speech was Mr. Overman's maiden effort in the senate.

House—The house devoted the entire session to consideration of the resolution reported from elections committee No. 3, unseating Mr. Howell (dem.) and declaring Mr. Connell (rep.), who contested the election, to have been elected from the Tenth Pennsylvania district. THE STRICKEN CITY

Amid Ruins Still Hot and Smoking Baltimore Has Begun Its Resurrection.

APATHY GIVES WAY TO ENERGY.

Baltimore, With the Help of the State at Large, Will Endeavor to Meet the Emergency.

No Civilian Can Pass the Cordon of Soldiers in the Fire Swept Desert Where Lay Safes and Vaults With Untold Treasure.

Baltimore, Feb. 10.—Amid ruins still hot and smoking, Baltimore has begun its resurrection. With the dawn of a clear wintry day whose brightness was in itself an inspiration, the apathy of Monday gave way to energy and from the governor of the state to the least private citizen the people of this distressed city aroused themselves to meet the appalling conditions that confronted them.

It was a day of conferences. The governor, the mayor and various municipal officials met and threshed out the problems that are theirs by virtue of public office. From this conference came a decision that Baltimore for the present needs no outside help, but will endeavor with her own resources and those of the state to meet the emergency. At this conference also was developed the machinery for an advisory legislative commission to act in conjunction with the legislature.

The military officials had unusual problems to decide and solved them in a military manner, for Tuesday every pass that has been issued giving entrance to the fire lines was revoked. No civilian may pass the cordon of citizen soldiers which after 48 hours of continuous duty Tuesday night stretched around the fire swept desert where lay safes and vaults containing untold treasure.

With equal promptness the chamber of commerce held a general meeting and issued a formal announcement that reflected prevailing hopefulness, declaring "there are already such evidences of recuperation that all are encouraged in the hope of the early restoration of every branch of trade."

The stock exchange members met and decided to rebuild as soon as possible. The same story can be told of practically every commercial body, while on every hand is evidence of private effort toward rehabilitation.

All things considered, the public stock taking that engrossed the business world of Baltimore Tuesday was satisfactory. But this does not mean that the great fire was a lesser calamity than has been pictured in these dispatches. The fact is that 140 acres of business buildings, representing property to the approximate value of $125,000,000 was destroyed within the journey of a clock's hand. History is marked by few calamities so vast and so costly in actual values, but with the passing of the first great shock and prostration, the brighter side is coming uppermost and a realization of what Baltimore escaped is dawning.

A great cloud was lifted Tuesday afternoon when it was discovered that practically all of the vaults and strong rooms and safes of the financial concerns which had buildings destroyed were unhurt. A tremendous loss in securities had been anticipated and when vault after vault yielded up its treasure unharmed the joy of the guardians was boundless.

From one trust company's safes alone papers to the amount of more than $200,000,000 was recovered. The news cheered the whole city and encouraged immediate and thorough investigation. Merchants and their assistants, smoke soiled and begrimed and hollow eyed from anxiety and loss of sleep, worked like laborers in the smoking ruins to uncover their safes, and in nearly every instance they were rewarded by intact contents.

BIDDING FOR SUPPORT OF THE TRUSTS.

The principal subject of political discussion in the national capital at the present time is the so-called Foraker bill, which aims to relieve the trusts and the mergers of any control or limitation by the government, and is everywhere regarded as the administration's bid for the support of the great corporations in the coming Presidential election. This bill shows the lack of sincerity on the part of the Republican party in their alleged fight against the trusts as does nothing else that has come to the surface lately. The administration has been active in touting itself as an anti-trust administration, telling in flaring headlines in Republican papers how the Attorney-General was going to smash the combines. It would like to get the people to believe that it intended to do something for them in the way of trust busting, but so far it has only worked with its mouth and has done nothing in the courts of the country, notwithstanding the fact that an appropriation of a half million dollars has been made for the special purpose of prosecuting the trusts. The fund has not been used and will not be for that purpose. More similes, drawn from the national game of poker, that fit the political situation, have lately been coined, most of them by the redoubtable Mark Hanna, than at any period in the political history of the country. The one that fits the present situation in the politics of the nation is that the present play of the Republican party is a huge "bluff," so far as it intends to wipe out the criminal trusts of the country.

Senator Foraker, besides being the Ohio manager of the President's campaign for election to succeed himself, is, with the Hon. Henry Cabot Lodge, his spokesman in the Senate of the United States, and no man who knows how things are done in Washington considers that there would be the remotest possibility of Senator Foraker offering such a bill without the President's direction.

Following, as it did, the visit to Washington of the trust magnates, whose mergers and combines are menaced under the Sherman law, the Northern Securities merger, now fighting for life in the Supreme Court, and the coal trust, brought to bay by the suit started by William Randolph Hearst before the Interstate Commerce Commission—the significance of Senator Foraker's effort becomes manifest.

Not in years has anything happened to bring J. Pierpont Morgan, H. C. Frick, J. W. Gates, President Cassatt of the Pennsylvania railroad, and President Stillman, of the National City Bank, all to Washington together. The presence of Cassatt and Stillman at the White House dinner emphasized the view of the situation that the Foraker bill was the administration's tender in exchange for the help of the trusts in the next election. Not in a generation has a bill introduced in Congress provoked such a feeling of alarm and indignation as this has done. Coming at a time when the people are marshalling all that is left to them of power to check the power of the rapacious combinations, and when the worst of these are under fire, the proposition to undo all that has been done for the protection of the country against these predatory organizations, the Foraker bill is doubly alarming, and the fact that it is presented by the spokesman of the President intensifies the feeling.

A party of scientific men who recently went to investigate the report of radium bearing earth in the Llano gold and coal fields, 115 miles north of New Orleans, say that the Llano earth will produce a larger percentage of radium than that of any other known deposit.

WEATHER STATISTICS.

While the Winter Has Been Unusually Long There Has Been No Very Low Temperature—Summary for Year.

People who complain that they have never experienced such a winter as this have short memories. It's true the present winter set in earlier than usual, yet it's also true that there has been no unusually low temperature. According to the record kept by the local weather observer, only once has the temperature been as low as zero, and that was on the morning of Jan. 27th. It has not been below zero at any time. On the date above mentioned Springfield, O., and other points as close as that city reported temperatures as low as 15° and 20° below zero, with very heavy snow. What would the growlers do, if it got that cold here in Maysville?

The record for January shows that the highest temperature was on the 22nd, when 66° was reached; the lowest 0° on 27th; the mean for the month 29.7°. There were only two cold "snaps" during the month, one beginning on the 3rd, when the mercury got as low as 4°. The next morning it was down to 6°, and on the 5th, it went to 3°. The second cold "snap" began on the 26th, and lasted only three days. The total precipitation for January amounted to 3.18 inches.

In December the temperature was down to 9° on the 3rd, 8° on the 11th, 5° on the 14th, 6° on the 15th, 7° on the 17th, 6° on 18th, 6° on 26th, and 1° on the 30th.

The annual summary for 1903, just issued by the Weather Bureau, shows that the coldest at this point last year was 9° below zero on the 19th of February. The total precipitation at this point last year was 38.27 inches, and of this rainfall we had 7.58 inches during the month of February, that month being not only the coldest but the wettest.

They are having a lively Republican row down in Bracken County over the organization of the county committee. The present Chairman is located out in the county and it is alleged takes no interest in politics aside from looking after his relatives and cronies in the distribution of "pap." A correspondent suggests that he be fired and W. O. Holmes, of Augusta, put in his place.

The beautiful poem, "Rain on the Roof," which appeared in a recent issue of the BULLETIN, from the pen of the late Coates Kinney (for whom Mrs. Aenath C. Pollitt of this city was named), was written up stairs at the home of her grandfather, John Mullin, near Springboro, Ohio. With nothing but the roof between him and the rain drops, came the inspiration to Mr. Kinney. This beautiful and popular poem has been sung and loved by many in many lands. Mr. Kinney was a brother of Prof. Kinney, a former Principal of the High School.

The Commercial Tribune of Feb. 4th says:

Judged by the test of popularity "The Chaperons" did fair to become to the musical field what "Rip Van Winkle" is to the drama. This is "The Chaperons" third visit to Cincinnati. It is wonderful the hold the piece has on the public and if anything with more gusto than ever before. The management have kept the company up to the top notch and with a satisfactory company, the same liveliness and animation behind the footlights during every minute of this piece is in evidence and with pleasing and pretty costumes, a big company and excellent people, this mad whirl of fun goes jumping along to the accompaniment of peals of applause.

This is the only attraction the present management of the Washington Opera House has actually guaranteed. Be sure and see "The Chaperons" Tuesday night at the opera house. Be early at Ray's Saturday morning, for there is already a big demand for seats.

WAR

It now appears that war is certain between Japan and Russia. This is to be regretted. However we may deplore the fact that such barbarous means are being resorted to for the settlement of national differences, the fact remains that these natives must be fed, clothed and supplied with horses and mules for cavalry and transportation purposes. Who will do the large part of this? The American farmer. Now is the time to buy land and get ready to help supply the market with the above named articles at high prices. I have the land for sale. Come to see me.

Acme Cushion Shoes

For women are built with the idea of providing comfort for those afflicted with cold or tender feet. They are more popular this season than last because their value is better known. They are much more comfortable than a shoe with regular sole. The all-wool felt lining forms a flexible and elastic pad for the sensitive part of the foot to rest upon and affords protection from dampness. Sold by one first-class dealer in a town. A SUMMER FESTIVAL.

An Attraction to Bring Visitors to This City Contemplated by Wyandotte Tribe, Redmen.

Maysville will have a summer festival providing the proper encouragement is given by the merchants and citizens.

Wyandotte Tribe No. 3, I. O. R. M., have this festival in contemplation and are now at work soliciting funds,—and if the merchants and citizens will contribute liberally, it will certainly be a go. It is the intention to give the carnival on the streets, and to secure one of the biggest carnival companies on the road, so there will be "something doing all the day long."

As Maysville will have no fair at the fair grounds this year, it is the opinion of many that we should have some sort of entertainment for the people. This proposed festival should be the means of drawing hundreds of people here.

INHERITS NICE ESTATE.

A Maysville Girl Falls Heir to Fortune of Over Ten Thousand Dollars.

In the County Court Tuesday Mr. J. E. Robinson of Brooksville, qualified as guardian of Stella Hamilton, with Mr. John I. Winter surety.

Whiskey and Beer Habit

PERMANENTLY CURED BY

"ORRINE,"

A SAFE, SURE AND HARMLESS SPECIFIC

Physicians pronounce drunkenness a disease of the nervous system, creating a morbid craving for a stimulant. Continued indulgence in whiskey, beer or wine eats away the stomach lining and stupefies the digestive organs, thus destroying the digestion and ruining the health. No "will power" can heal the inflamed stomach membranes.

"ORRINE" permanently removes the craving for liquor by acting directly on the affected nerves, restoring the stomach and digestive organs to normal conditions, improving the appetite and restoring the health. No sanitarium treatment necessary; "ORRINE" can be taken at your own home without publicity. Can be given secretly if desired.

CURE GUARANTEED OR MONEY REFUNDED.

Mrs. E. Wychiff, New York City, writes: "ORRINE" cured my husband, who was a steady drunkard for many years. He now has no desire for stimulants, his health is good and he is fully restored to manhood. He used only five boxes of "ORRINE."

Mrs. W. L. D., Helena, Mont., writes: "I have waited one year before writing you of the permanent cure of my son. He took sanitarium treatment, as well as other advertised cures, but they all failed until we gave him 'ORRINE.' He is now fully restored to health and has no desire for drink."

Mr. E. L. Atlanta, Ga., writes: "I was born with the habit of drinking and I have for thirty-two years. It finally brought me to the gutter, homeless and friendless. I was powerless to resist the craving and would steal and lie to get whiskey. Four boxes of "ORRINE" cured me of all desire and I now have the smile of liquor."

Price $1 per box. Mailed in plain, sealed wrapper by Orange Company, 817 14th St., Washington D. C. Encloses full book—Treatment on Drunkenness (sealed free on request). Sold and recommended by

HERE AND THERE.

Items of Interest From Nearby Towns and Villages Contributed by the Bulletin's Corps of Correspondents.

EAST LINSTONE, Feb. 9.—The brown and bare landscape at present, with no green visible, presents an appearance rarely if ever witnessed within the memory of the oldest inhabitant.

Will Smith, late of Millersburg, is enjoying a visit of several days at his old home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Case visited his uncle, T. J. Ensor, of Mumville, Thursday last week.

John Farris, who died last week at Newport, recently resided in the Bernard neighborhood, and was a patron of the present term of school.

Mrs. Julia Carney, who was married last Thursday at Bay St. Louis, Miss., formerly visited in this neighborhood and is remembered as a bright, fascinating young lady.

Among the many expressions of sympathy tendered Mrs. R. C. Williams in regard to her recent accident none are more gratefully appreciated than those contained in the Bernard correspondence of the Saturday's issue of the BULLETIN. Mrs. Williams is improving.

The terrific rain and wind storm that struck this section about 5 o'clock Sunday morning, accompanied by thunder and lightning, amounted to almost a cyclone. Residences shook from roof to foundation and persons occupying upper apartments on being awakened from their peaceful slumbers, sought terra firma foundations in fearful anticipation of danger. The observed halo of the moon with the intervening lightning presented the elements in an array of whiteness that was appalling. Considerable damage resulted from the storm. Cyrus Case had some haystacks blown down and scattered over the ground and one end of his barn demolished. R. C. Williams had a large rick of straw blown over on four head of cattle, and after quite a while with hard work, assisted by neighbors, the cattle were all rescued alive except one, which had been suffocated. Mr. Williams was rather unfortunate as this had been the first night he had allowed the cattle to seek shelter out of the barn.
